PSD Files Layer Structure

The layers in each file are logically labelled and grouped.

You will find in each PSD file the first layer named "grid-1170", in case you want to modify and respect the original grid of the page. The grid is 1170px width with 12 columns of 70px each and 30px between each column.

For every picture from the theme there is a shape (named image shape) and you just have to make a clipping mask between the picture and the shape.

Layers are logically grouped in section and in each group layers are organized from top to bottom and left to right.

Have fun using this theme and thank you for buying it!
